

Governor Statement

Amy Cholefko

My name is Amy, and I am in my fifth year as a foundation governor. My four children attend Huntley Primary, one in each class and they love it! Prior to having children, I worked in a large Junior School where one of my primary responsibilities was working with children who had special educational needs. My Christian belief is important to me, and I am a member of a Baptist church in Cheltenham, where I attend Sunday services, run the Parent & toddler group, and help with the youth group.

When the position of foundation governor arose, I applied because I felt my skills could be useful to the governing body. The past five years have been extremely beneficial and being part of a school that gives every child the opportunity to a full and fun education, as well as promoting Christian distinctiveness, has been particularly rewarding.

I am currently the link governor for SEND (special, educational, needs and disabilities), Pupil Premium, maths and also belong to the 'quality of education' and 'ethos' committees. Meeting with staff and children regularly, either for more formal governor visits or attending school events, has opened my eyes to how much effort the children, staff, governors and PTFA put in to making Huntley a wonderful nurturing school.
